Streamlining Quasi-Judicial Agencies May Solve Federal Puzzle

By BRUCE CATTON
NEA Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON—When Attorney General Murphy recently appointed a committee to study the practices of quasi-judicial federal agencies, he took the first step toward clearing up one of the government's major headaches.

Pacelli Elected as Pope Pius 12th

First Papal Secretary to Succeed in Modern Church History

VATICAN CITY, Rome, Italy—(AP)—Eugenio Cardinal Pacelli Thursday was elected the 262nd pope of the Holy Roman Catholic Church, on his 63rd birthday—and he assumed the name of Pius the 12th.

The name under which the new pontiff will be the spiritual ruler of 331 million Catholics was assumed in recognition of his succession of Pius the 11th, to whom he was papal secretary of state.

The election of the Italian cardinal on the third ballot of the first day of the conclave's voting was without precedent in the modern history of the church.

The date of his coronation will be announced later.

The election of Pacelli shattered the tradition that rarely has the secretary of state of a preceding pope been elevated to the papal seat.

Chain Store Tax Bill Defeated in House 47-40

Extension of Auto License Time Is Passed by House

Senate Passes House Resolution for Bond Guarantee Amendment

8 1-2 MILLIONS YEAR

2 Workmen's Compensation Bills Are Adopted by the House

LITTLE ROCK—(AP)—The house defeated 47 to 40 Thursday a bill by Goldman, of Texarkana, proposing a graduated tax upon chain stores to provide old-age pension funds.

The house adopted in a voice vote a resolution by Thomas, of Hot Spring county, to extend the time for purchase of auto licenses without payment of penalty until March 15.

Receding from the Byrd-Abington amendment, the senate passed 33 to 0 the Wilkinson house resolution proposing a constitutional amendment to guarantee payment by the state of annual debt service on bonds which may be issued to refund Arkansas' 142-million-dollar highway debt.

The amendment would guarantee that 8 1/2 million dollars be set aside out of highway revenues, if that amount is needed, for payment of principal and interest on refunding bonds authorized by Governor Bailey's 1937 refunding act.

All other highway funds would be released for use in maintenance, construction and other work.

Two Remedies

To remedy this state of affairs, he has two propositions, and he has laid both before congress. One would set up a United States Administrative Court of 40 members, which would take the place of the present Court of Claims, the Court of Customs and Patent Appeals, the U. S. Customs Court and the Board of Tax Appeals.

It would be divided into trial and appellate divisions, and it would in addition be vested with all the powers to revoke permits, licenses, registrations and grants such as are now exercised by the Secretary of Agriculture, the Commerce Department, the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, the Federal Communications Commission, and so on.

Since this court's decision would be final except for Supreme Court review on writs of certiorari, and since such writs are rarely obtainable except where a conflict in lower court decisions can be shown, the change has been made that the citizen would be almost entirely at the mercy of this new court, with nobody to appeal to in case he got a raw deal.

Mr. Celler denies that it would work out that way; and anyhow he has introduced a second bill which would create a Court of Appeals for Administration. This would leave the semi-judicial agencies as they are now, but would create a special court to handle all appeals—including, incidentally, appeals from the findings of the NLRB.

He says he doesn't especially care which of these two bills is adopted, if any. He wants to get Congress' reaction and see which idea is the more popular before he starts pushing.

Prescott, Camden Win Opening Tilts

Curly Wolves Nose Out El Dorado, 40 to 39, in District Play

CAMDEN, Ark.—Camden and Prescott won first round games and Snacker and Strong advanced on forfeits in the District 9 Division A basketball tournament here Wednesday night.

Camden defeated Carthage, 57 to 37, with White and Mann of Camden tying for scoring honors with 17 points each. Orr led Carthage with 13.

The most thrilling game was the Prescott-El Dorado clash, in which the Curly Wolves won, 40 to 39, when Orr, brilliant Prescott center, made a free throw with 40 seconds to play.

At the half the score was 11 to 11. At the end of the third quarter Prescott was ahead, 29 to 25. Orr with 25 points was high, but Ott of El Dorado nearly won the game for the Wildcats when he made 24 points.

Snacker won from Bodewy and Strong from Hampton when these teams failed to appear. The second session will be held here Thursday night when remaining first round games will be played.

169 Youths Are Employed in Hempstead County by NYA; Their Total Cost, $25,000

6 Hope Projects and One Blevins Comprise the List

11 SCHOOLS AIDED

Twofold Program Helps Both Students and Non-School Folk

A total of 169 boys and girls in Hempstead county—both in and out of school—are receiving work through the National Youth Administration, according to a survey just completed.

For the state, the NYA is operating a broad program of work and training that is giving part-time employment to more than 12,500 boys and girls, both white and negro. Of this total 6,500 are out-of-school youths employed on work projects ranging from the construction of public buildings to clerical training, and 6,000 are students working in their spare time on NYA jobs that spell the difference between their having to drop out of school and continuing their education.

Divided Into Two Programs
The NYA is divided broadly into two general programs: (1) the work program for out-of-school boys and girls; and (2) the student aid program for needy high school and college students. Youths between the ages of 18 and 25 years whose families are in need of assistance are given employment on the work program. The age limits for students seeking work on the student aid program are 16 to 25 years.

For the boys and girls who have been forced to discontinue their schooling, most of them before they completed high school, the NYA is operating a variety of work projects. Some of the boys are interested in becoming carpenters; some, woodworkers; some, painters, plumbers; electricians, stone masons, brick layers, office workers, bookkeepers, mechanics farmers, foresters. On the other hand, many public agencies and institutions need assistance for such projects as erecting new buildings or reconditioning old ones. Consequently, the NYA has been able to provide worthwhile work projects for the NYA workers and, at the same time, leaving tangible benefits to public agencies and institutions in the form of completed school buildings, city halls, community buildings and many other types of project work. Not only do the NYA boys and girls work on these jobs but they also receive training designed to give them technical and general information in the vocational fields of their choice.

Student aid workers are assigned to the various departments of the high schools and colleges. Their work is designed and supervised by a committee of school officials. The general types of work performed by these students include: clerical and stenographic assistance, library and laboratory work, research and survey, maintaining buildings and grounds, repair, and assistance in training schools and nurseries.

Training Emphasized
The pictures and brief descriptions of projects outlined in this article indicate only the objective results of work accomplished. While this productive work accrues to the benefit of the communities in which NYA projects are located, it should be borne in mind that the value of the NYA program transcends these material results. Over and above the immediate desirability of providing employment on worthwhile projects for hitherto forgotten boys and girls the NYA program is placing full emphasis on work experience, job-training and vocational guidance looking to the placement of these workers in private employment. When, through the NYA, a boy or girl acquires job-experience and training to a degree sufficient for obtaining and holding a job in private employment, the value of the NYA program is measured in terms of dollars and cents.

$25,588.47 Spent in This County
In Hempstead county the National Youth Administration has spent $20,954.47 through project work and $4,644.00 through student aid assistance during the past three fiscal years, and

J. D. Jones Unable to Play—Oppose Ashdown in First Game

Four Games Will Be Played Here Thursday Night

The Hope High School basketball team will be forced to play without the services of its regular center, J. D. Jones, in the opening round of the district 10 cage tournament here Thursday night in which 12 southwest Arkansas teams have entered.

Coach Foy Hammons announced that he had shifted Norman Green, ace forward, to the center position, and would start Ellen and Murphy at forwards, with Baker, Taylor or Eason at the guard position.

With Jones out of the game, the Bobcats will be forced to play at top speed to defeat Ashdown, considered among the strongest in the tournament.

Hope vs. Ashdown, twice this season, and the Panthers vs. Magnolia vs. Blevins, Bright Stars vs. Murfreesboro and DeQueen vs. Village. News drawing boys in the first round are Texarkana, Kirby, Patmos and Walker's Creek.

French War Hero Is Sent to Spain

Marshal Pétain, 82, First Ambassador to Franco Regime

PARIS, France—(AP)—France called her World War hero, Marshal Henri Philippe Pétain, 82, back to service Thursday to become the first ambassador to Nationalist Spain.

The appointment was announced after a cabinet meeting in the Elysee palace as France undertook to halt shipment of supplies through French ports to the republican regime of Spain, in accordance with her recognition of Generalissimo Franco's regime—apparently in the hope that this action would hasten the end of the civil war.

Flames Destroy Old Wooden Queen Hotel at Halifax

HALIFAX, Nova Scotia—(Canadian Press)—Twenty-one persons were missing, many of them feared to be dead, after an early morning fire Thursday that swept through the half-century-old Queen Hotel and then spread to adjacent buildings.

Twenty others are in hospitals suffering from spinal injuries, compound fractures and burns.

Many of the victims were hurt when they jumped from hotel windows before firemen could reach them as the flames roared swiftly through the old wooden structure.

Unofficial estimates of the missing ran as high as 27.

It was believed there were 87 guests and about 30 employees in the hotel when the fire started.

Land-Use Program Gets Under Way in Southwestern Counties

Retirement of Sub-marginal Lands to Timber and Grazing Is Part of Soil Conservation Service Plan

LITTLE ROCK—(AP)—Glenn Riddell, Soil Conservation Service co-ordinator for Arkansas, announced Thursday that a soil conservation project including lands in Columbia, Nevada, Ouachita and Union counties had the approval of H. H. Bennett, chief of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service in Washington.

Riddell said it is proposed to take sub-marginal land out of cultivation in the foothill sections where erosion has lowered the standard of living for farmers.

Submarginal lands will become part of a new land-use development project stressing forestry and grazing uses.

The sale of the land would be voluntary, Riddell said.

Program Here
Land-use mapping and program planning was officially started in Hempstead county Thursday at a meeting of the County Land-Use Planning Committee, composed of:

Lee H. Garland, chairman; H. C. Bonds, Wallaceburg; Otha Reeves; Redland; R. L. Leavallen, DeRoon; Johnnie Wilson, Caline; C. M. Lewis, Minecreek; W. V. Frazier, Ozan; Frank J. Hill, Spring Hill; W. S. Lafferty, Bodewy; Mrs. Turner, Bodewy; Mrs. J. E. Eley, Minecreek; Mrs. W. D. Jones, Ozan; Mrs. Eric Turner, Bodewy; Mrs. Earl Holt, Minecreek; Mrs. Berlin Jones, Bodewy; Mrs. Roy Bonds, Wallaceburg; Mrs. J. E. McWilliams, DeRoon; Mrs. D. M. Samuels, Garland; Mrs. O. B. Hodnett, DeRoon; Mrs. Tom McCorkle, Saline.

A review of the background of this work was made by Aubrey D. Gates, Farm Organization Specialist with the Agricultural Extension Service, College of Agriculture, Little Rock, and the technical details of conducting land-use mapping work was discussed by Z. L. Galoway.

Three Objectives
The objectives of the program as pointed out by the speakers, were:

(1) The mapping and classification of land-use areas in Hempstead county.

(2) The planning an agricultural program which would promote better use of land in these areas and a higher level of living for farm people.

(3) The mapping and planning phases should result in closely cooperative activities on the part of the state and federal agencies serving agriculture in Hempstead county.

The actual planning to be done will be by township committees appointed by the county committee in each of the 12 townships. It is expected that the work will be completed in Hempstead county, one of 15 counties selected for this type of work in Arkansas by July 1.

Others than the Hempstead County Extension Agents who are dealing with land-use who will assist with this land-use program planning are: A. H. Wade, supervisor for the Farm Security Administration; Russell Stadelman, district forester; R. E. Jackson, Smith Hughes teacher; Buford Poe, Project Manager, Soil Conservation Service; and E. E. McMahen, Secretary of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

Wasted Training, Wasted Opportunities

The old pipe-mender looked up from his little lathe and scrunched around in his chair. His eye ran down the rack of pipes left for repair. There were more than 100 of them.

"Can't promise you anything in less than two weeks," he said.
And that is how a little story came out which tells much about today's world.

He had tried and tried many times to get an assistant. He had always failed. Most of the skilled pipe-makers and pipe-menders used to come from Austria, France, Italy. Now they come no more.

There are immigrants, yes. He had tried repeatedly to find an assistant, successor, among them. None of them knew the trade, none had any aptitude to learn it.

The old pipe-man shrugged. "They aren't any good any more," he said.
"These young men aren't trained in the arts or in workmanship and skill.
They are trained in war."

Now there is a little tragedy. There is an honest, an honorable trade in which there is a good living. What it wants is skill, patience, a love of fine handicraft work, and a peaceful, contented disposition. But nobody wants the job, or at least nobody is qualified to fill it.

The young men who would in ordinary times be apprenticed to the trade in Europe are being otherwise trained, trained in the grip of the machine-gun, trained to the left thrust of a bayonet, trained to a nice eye for dropping a bomb—but not trained to the joy of slowly rounding a rough piece of briar root into beautiful symmetry.

The pipe-mender is aging now. He learned his trade in Austria back in the days when such a man as himself learned contentment and peace with his trade. That was part of it.

But what of the boys who are rushed off to labor battalions and then into the army training camps? Will they ever have the opportunity, will they ever have the temperament to learn trades like this, where the job of workmanship leaves the nearest job?

In a few years we shall know. And we probably shall not like the answer.

Transplantation of Major Organs Probably Still Beyond Science

Last month a convict, sentenced to death, offered his body for experimentation in the transplantation of organs with the hope perhaps of saving his own life and with the hope that by such human experimentation something might be done toward saving the lives of other human beings.

Recently publicity as to the possibility of transplanting portions of the eye has brought to every medical college and research institution in the country many letters from people who wish to sell an eye for transplantation. Hardly a month goes by in which institutions
do not receive letters from other human beings who insist that they are willing to sell their bodies alive or dead for experimentation.

In the case of the convict it was proposed, according to newspaper reports, to transplant into his body the pancreas gland from the body of another individual to find out whether or not the gland would remain alive and able to supply the necessary secretion. The pancreas is the gland from which the body secretes insulin—the substance necessary for the proper use of sugar by the body. In the absence of insulin, diabetes develops and it is necessary to supply by injection.

The actual facts as to the possibility of transplanting glandular tissues from one body into another do not indicate that the procedure is likely to become exceedingly efficient or, indeed, that it is possible at all with our present knowledge.

In fact, most of the evidence shows that tissue taken from the body of one species of animal and transplanted into another is treated by the body as foreign material and is either encap-sulated and broken down and removed by the purpose.

For instance, attempts have been made in the bodies of both men and women who have lost the effects of certain glandular tissues necessary to a normal life, to transplant into the descent to transplant particularly the sex glands of the male and of the female. All available evidence indicates that no such successful transplantation has ever been accomplished whereby the material transplanted was able to take over the functions of the tissues lost.

It transplantation of these simple materials were not found possible,
how much less reason is there to hope for transplantation of some of the much more complex glands of the human body like the pancreas?

Sponsors explained that it would return the state to the 1937 welfare act under which Arkansas received approximately $2,500,000 in federal welfare grants before Governor Bailey signed the new welfare act February 21. The bill re-enacts Act 41 of 1937 in its entirety with the exception that it provides for a nine-member state board instead of a seven-member board as was provided for in the old law. The bill's emergency clause received the required majority.

Most of the argument on the repeal bill was before the Senate learned of the suspension of federal assistance grants.

New Frock Full of Tricks to Make You Look Lovely

By CAROL DAY

This dress is designed to make your shoulders look upstanding, your waistline look tiny, and to bring the flattery of color contrast and irregular lines straight up to your throat.

That little bow at the belt, in front,
is in key with spring's preference for everything Victorian. Pattern 8387
contemplates all its detailing at the top, above a slim-hugged, slightly full skirt. Therefore it does favors to your figure.

This is a type to put on and wear right now, for the refreshment of your winter wardrobe. It will also be smart in the spring. It looks subtle in the spring. It looks subtle and expensive —but it's extremely easy to make.

Thin wool, flat crepe, the silk and prints are nice materials for this.

Pattern 8387 is designed for sizes
34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46. Size 34 requires 4 1/2 yards of 39-inch material; 46 yards contrasting to trim.

The new SPRING and SUMMER PATTERN BOOK, 32 pages of attractive designs for every size and every occasion, is now ready. Photographs show dresses made from these patterns being worn; a feature you will enjoy. Let the charming designs in this new book help you in your sewing. One pattern and the new Spring and Summer Pattern Book—25 cents.

Beer Sales Legal
In Dry Territory

But New Law Forbids Sale
of Intoxicants on Sunday

LITTLE ROCK.—Sale of beer in the 10 dry counties and 27 dry towns and cities in the state will be legalized
Thursday when a bill by Senator Arnold Taylor of Clarksville becomes a law without Governor Bailey's signature. The governor said Wednesday he would neither sign nor veto
the measure.

The bill removes beer containing not more than 5 per cent alcohol from under provisions of the 1935 Thorn liquor control act and places it under provisions of the 1933 beer act.

The effect of this would be that sale of beer could continue in counties, cities and towns which have voted out sale of liquor under local option provisions of the Thorn act.

The petition of 35 per cent of the legal voters is necessary to call a local option sale while the petition of 51 per cent of the legal voters is required under the 1935 beer act to call an election on sale of beer. No local options on beer may be called in governmental sub-divisions less than a county.

To date no local option elections have been called on the beer question.

Sale of beer on Sunday in dry territory still would be outlawed, even should the legislature repeal the 1935
blue laws which now place a statewide ban on Sabbath sales.

Counties which have voted dry under local option provisions of the Thorn act are: Columbia, Howard,
Lard, Johnson, Lawrence, Logan,
Linn, Nevada, Saline and White.

Cities and towns which have voted dry are Centerville, Benton county; Green Forest, Carroll county; Arkadelphia, Clark county; Piggott, Coming and Reactor, Clay county; Alma and Mulberry, Crawford county; Marion and Hasper township, Crittenden county;
Salem, Fulton county; Sheridan, Grant county; Donaldson and Malvern, Hot Spring county; Humphrey, Jefferson county; Bradley and Reane township, Lafayette county; Ashdown, Little River county; Norman, Montgomery county; Glenwood and Clark township, Pike county; Waldron, Searcy township, Scott county; Siring
and Victoria township, Union county; Augusta, Woodruff county, and Plainview, Yell county.

Razorbacks Win
Over Rice, 50-45

Adams Scores 20 Points,
Teams Play Again
Thursday Night

HOUSTON, Texas.—(AP)—Johnny
Adams, leading scorer in the Southwest Conference, looped in 20 points
as he paced the University of Arkansas to a 50-45 victory over the Rice Owls Wednesday night. The decision enabled the Razorbacks to go into the final game of the season Thursday night with an outside chance to tie for the 1939 championship.

Texas Aggies and should the Longhorns suffer defeat, Arkansas could pull into a tie or the title by defeating the Owls again.

Adams was the difference between victory and defeat. The Owls, away to a smooch hstart, held a four point lead after 15 minutes of play but in the last five minutes of the opening half the Razorbacks hit 13 points to establish a 28-24 lead when the rest period was called.

Adams scored the basket that put the Porkers in front and with the start of the final period the Owls appeared sluggish as the Razorbacks ran up a 37-26 advantage in five minutes.

Owls Settle Down

Once the Owls settled down, they pulled back into the game. With six minutes left to play Arkansas led 43 to 41.

WOMEN WANT BEAUTY!

BY LOUISE HOLMES
COPYRIGHT, 1939, NEA SERVICE, INC.

Yesterday, Susie accepted a splendid radio offer. She is still smiling in her emotions, however, regarding Jeff and Dick. She is dating Dick.

CHAPTER XXIII

LIFE was so full of joy and interest, so crowded with new experiences and sensations. The most important ones continually escaped Susie, lost in the intoxicating jumble. She wanted to glory in Mr. Jasper's offer, she wanted to thrill to the dance hour with Dick, deep in her heart she was ecstatic over the prospect of Christmas with Jeff and Edna. New clothes, attention, the very consciousness of beauty—actually she was so busy being joyous that it was difficult to sort out and tabulate the various causes, impossible to drink deeply of any one happiness.

Susie's life was comparable to her diet. Small tastes of this, a tiny portion of that, never ending satisfaction. Not that she found fault. Susie was in a delicious state, snatching at life's gifts, hugging them to her heart, letting them go when her arms became too full.

After three hours in the shoe department, where hundreds of women milled about for a sight of Suzanne, for a word with her, Susie hurried back to the hotel and made a supreme toilet for Dick. Her hands shook with excitement, her breath came unevenly. When a florist's box arrived, when she tremblingly lifted an orchid from the shimmering mass of transparent paper, her rapture was tinged with tears. Had she realized the significance of the offering, that once earthy violets had seemed the perfect tribute for Susie, she would have been even more ecstatic.

She wore the fur-trimmed ensemble in which she had been presented to Mr. Harker, inner joy lending an appealing loveliness to her face. The orchid nestled in the fur of her collar, touching her cheek with a caressing finger.

EFFORT was rewarded by Dick's first glance as he met her in the lobby.

"I thought I must have dreamed you," he said, taking her arm and guiding her to his car.

Susie paid slight attention. Sitting beside Dick, slim and extravagantly garbed, faintly perturbed with delicate, exotic odor, Susie knew that she had arrived.

"You're Hollywood, transplanted in ugly old Chicago," Dick said. "Chicago isn't ugly," she objected. "To me it was fairyland, the glistening background for miracles. 'I love it'."

"But you should see Los Angeles, Beverly Hills, Westwood—clean and shining, full of atmosphere."

"Another adopted son of California," she mused, not quite liking this turning of the back on home.

"You bet. And the girls out there—they certainly treat a fellow right."

"Dear me—am I hearing compliments?"

Taking his eyes from the traffic he looked down at her with the well-remembered flash of white teeth. "Not you, Suzanne, nary a complaint. How about letting me show you off at the Hermit Club party on New Year's Eve?"

"It's a date," she said. Susie's joy blazed higher. The Hermit Club on New Year's Eve—only a favored few received that gift from the gods. Ah, the gods were kind—kind.

FOLLOWED two mad, whirling weeks. Dates and double dates with Dick and his friends. The friends gradually drifted away, Susie's preference for Dick obvious even to the smitten young men. Christmas Eve started at 5 o'clock with a cocktail party at the luxurious home of one of Dick's friends. Susie, with her simple background, felt a bit out of place at this party. She met Dick's sister and was snubbed, not much, but enough to make her wonder.

Had she heard Hester Tremaine's comment to her mother she would not have wondered, she would have known, might have been more pleased than troubled.

"Dick's mad about the common little thing," Hester told her mother.

"Dick's just having a good time," her mother said easily. "He isn't taking on a wife to support, not since your father has shut down on him."

"He seems to think Suzanne has money, and maybe she has," Hester shrugged. "Whether or not, I'll bet my next month's allowance she'll snag him."

And Susie, who had a more ladylike name for it, was certainly out to win Dick. She was so violently in love with him that she lived in a daze, one moment deliciously sure, the next, frankly dubious. And Dick was overly attentive.

SHE saw little of Jeff these days. Except for the Christmas party, with Jeff making a palpable effort at holiday cheer, with Edna and John Harker deeply oblivious to everyone save themselves, she had scarcely seen Jeff.

She knew that Edna and Mr.

Blytheville Seeks Out-of-Town Tilts

Coach Joe Dilly Unable to Fill Four Open Football Dates

BLYTHERVILLE, Ark.—With four open dates to be filled, Coach Joe Dilly of Blytheville High School has turned to out-of-town competition to complete his 1939 football schedule.

Dilly has written letters to coaches of 50 large high schools in an effort to line-up four additional games before next fall. This was necessary, he said because he has exhausted every effort to obtain additional competition in the Arkansas High School Conference, only six members of which will appear on the Chicks' schedule next season.

Pine Bluff, Little Rock, North Little Rock, Hope, Jonesboro and Forrest City are the only members of the group scheduled to meet the Chicks, although there are two non-conference foes definitely on the list and perhaps a third.

Paragould High of Little Rock and Panguitch of Utah are two of the strongest non-conference teams last season, again may face the Chicks, Piggott and Clarksville have been dropped.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backaches quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's daily way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 8 pounds of waste and acids.

Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

An excess of acids or poisons in your blood when due to functional kidney disorders, may be the cause of nagging backaches, rheumatism, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, aching, puffiness under the eyes, headache and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 million of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

THEATERS

At the New

Hailed as the most distinguished motion picture in which Greta Garbo has yet appeared, the New theater announces with pride its current showing Thursday Friday of "Conquest," stirring romance of the fabulous Napoleon Bonaparte and the woman he loved, in which the glamorous Swedish star makes her first co-starring appearance with Charles Boyer, hero of "The Garden of Allah" and "History Is Made at Night."

In the new story, filled with the memories of an epochal period in world history, Garbo plays the role of the beautiful Countess Walewska who forsakes her home and her husband in an heroic attempt to win over Napoleon and thus save the life of her country. Boyer in an astoundingly realistic makeup is seen as Napoleon whose powerful determination to rule the world leads him to doom.

The picture is the latest directorial achievement of Clarence Brown who was behind the cameras in the filming of such earlier Garbo successes as "Anna Karenina," "Flesh and the Devil," "Romance" and "Anna Christie." Adrian designed a series of breath-taking costumes for the star and Herbert Stothart composed the lovely musical score which accom-
